

Permission to Sedate

Your pet may need to be sedated in order to fully assess your pet's condition. The cost for sedation is based on your pet's weight.

Please provide the following information:

Pet's Name: _____

Reason for Sedation: _____

Before sedating your pet, we will perform a full physical examination. However, many conditions, including disorders of the liver and kidneys or blood, are not detected unless blood testing is performed. For senior pets, those over 7 years of age, we recommend a more comprehensive general panel. Such tests are important before sedating. For these reasons, we require, at a minimum, the pre-sedation panel prior to sedation unless, a pre-sedation panel, general panel, or wellness panel has been performed within the last 30 days.

Please check the line that applies:

_____ Pre-sedation blood test

_____ Comprehensive blood test for pets older than 7 years

I request that my pet receive the above procedures. I also understand that unforeseen complications or life threatening situations may occur during the above procedure and I authorize the veterinarians and support personnel to alter procedure and provide such treatments, in the doctor's professional judgement, as necessary to safeguard the life and health of my pet.
